

BOOK DONATIONS TO BEMIDJI PUBLIC LIBRARY

The Bemidji Public Library welcomes donations of gently used books. Recent bestsellers and popular dvd's are often added into the library's collection allowing other patrons to enjoy the books and movies. Volunteers from the Friends sort through the donations and the "cream of the crop" are sold at the Friends Red Door Bookstore. These quality donations allowed the Friends to then donate more than $10,000 to the library in 2011 for the purchase of new materials. The materials that do not get added to the collection or are not sold through the Friend's Red Door Bookstore, are put aside to be sold at the library's annual booksale. The library does not accept donations of encyclopedias, magazines, textbooks, condensed books, older or musty smelling books.
