at the Bemidji Public Library

On Thursday evening March 27th at 6:15p.m., come to the library to meet local author/playwright Roy C. Booth. He will be at the library discussing his new work. The one act comedy "Vision Impaired" will be read in the reader's theatre style with an opportunity for questions at the end.

Anyone interested in forming and participating in a reader's theatre group is encouraged to attend. Reader's theatre is a style of theatre in which the actors do not need to memorize their lines. Rather, they either go through their part holding the script and reading off their lines, or else sit/stand together on a stage and read through the script together. The library, in partnership with Roy Booth, will be doing readers theatre plays and presentations for both children and adults during the year.

Come to the Library for a program that will be fun for all!
